Counting of votes polled in five States

BJP set to sweep UP after 15 years

- BJP rides on Modi wave to a massive victory in UP
- Congress gets another chance to rule Punjab
- BJP achieves unassailable lead in Uttarakhand
- Hung Assembly likely in Goa and Manipur

New Delhi, Mar. 11- Holi arrived two days early for Bharatiya Janata Party as it was set to sweep back to power in Uttar Pradesh this morning after 15 long years, giving Prime Minister Narendra Modi his biggest victory after the 2014 Lok Sabha polls. The results proved wrong the fears of a hung Assembly. A majority of exit polls had predicted a hung House, with the BJP ahead of the Samajwadi Party-Congress alliance, which was way behind the saffron party.

The BJP was also set to sweep neighbouring Uttarakhand. Punjab has given the Congress another chance after 10 years and Arvind Kejriwal's Aam Aadmi Party is likely to be the day's biggest loser. Goa and Manipur are likely to get a hung Assembly. Votes are being counted for Assembly elections in Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Punjab, Manipur and Goa today.

BJP party workers celebrate victory in New Delhi.

Powered by an aggressive campaign spearheaded by Modi, BJP candidates in UP were on the road to victory in a whopping 306 of the 403 constituencies as officials counted millions of votes polled in the staggered 7-phase election.

The imminent victory triggered widespread celebrations all across the country's most populous state as well as at the BJP headquarters in New Delhi.

BJP top leaders said that they had expected and prepared for 195-210 seats in UP. The rest is all bonus, so to say. Caste politics or caste calculations haven't worked like 2014. The BJP sweep in Uttar Pradesh is greater than what the BJP leaders expected. They had expected just above a clear majority. Trends said demonetisation has not affected the BJP in UP at all. On the contrary, it seems to have favoured the party.

Trends suggested the Samajwadi Party has had no benefit from the Congress alliance in UP. Congress appears to have performed well than SP, suggesting SP votes transferred to Congress but not vice-versa.

Beckoning baldies

Geneticists are currently informing even lay people about the role gene, the molecular unit of heredity, is playing in anybody not only manifesting some conspicuous features of their parents as well as earlier generations of their family but also, more importantly, the precise origins of various disorders and diseases such as diabetes. A just published report in a popular daily discloses findings by researchers at University of Bonn in Germany, based on genetic data of a large sample of bald people from seven different countries revealing that short, fair-complexioned men are more likely to go bald early. The research team has identified more than 63 gene alterations increasing the risk of premature hair loss, according to the report. The English lexicon may present the term baldy as a noun, but when used as an adjective, it may not be in good taste. Some extent of assuaging the resultant hurt feeling may result from the fact that baldness (Alopecia areata) is perceived in informed circles as a distinct sign of manliness.

A popular Hollywood actor, playing a lead role in the biopic The King and I in the late 1950s, appearing on the large screen world over with a clean shaven head may have encouraged many naturally balded men to appear in public without resorting to wearing a wig, unlike a few persons enjoying VIP status in the State. In fact, the nation's first Prime Minister could be seen in the open most of the time not wearing the Gandhi cap, the ubiquitous headgear of his party-men in those days.

Even as the common man of the land, created by the country's legendary cartoonist R.K.Laxman, was himself a baldy, the bewildered look of the character as shown in the countless number of cartoons might support the theory of stressful life as one of the many causes leading to baldness. The expression that behind every successful man there is a woman (and behind that woman is his wife) may have prompted a wit to replace the term 'successful man' by the term 'a man with a bald pate', for which the wives of baldies may take umbrage. The galaxy of baldies, including the renowned Statesmen like Winston Churchill, Mikhail Gorbachev, C. Rajagopalachari, Karnataka's (then Mysore State) CM S. Nijalingappa, known for his uprightness in public life, Cho. Ramaswamy, the sharp-witted humorous political commentator, to name a few, gives the species a niche of their own in society.

Digressing from seriousness about the hairless-on-the scalp flock to humour, an astute wit has observed that those who bald in the frontal region of their scalp are thinkers while those who bald at the back are sexy. Another wit's added remark that those who bald at both regions are always thinking of sex, should not intrude into their privacy. Baldness may neither be cured nor halted, but modern treatment of hair transplant may help. A bold baldy's outlook: Either have a lush lock of hair on top or have nothing at all !

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

A friend of ours once cracked a joke about how Eve came into being from Adam's rib. He went on to crack more and more jokes about the fair sex. Reflecting on them later, I thought, "what would a man do without a woman?" contradicting an exasperated Henry Higgins in* My Fair Lady, *who wonders what a woman would do without a man! Furthering the whole argument of who would benefit more in the whole scheme of things, I have come to the conclusion that both will not be able to do without each other.

One of our maids has five children. The first four are girls and the last, a boy. To support her battalion, she works from dawn to dusk. Why ever didn't you stop at two, we asked. "No, we had to have a male child. The family has finally achieved a 'status'," she told me with pride in English. — Preeti Aranha in Deccan Herald.

Intricate artworks on soap bar

Sydney: 26-year-old Daniele Barresi is a world champion food sculptor with many other titles under his belt, but some of his most impressive creations are actually carved out of soap bars.

Barresi discovered his talent for sculpting at the age of 7, and was already carving fruits and vegetables, his skills improved as he grew and practiced. Five years later, his other passion, cooking, led him to the IPSSAR of Villa San Giovanni "Professional Cook Institute," where he was able to use his artistic talents to graduate. It was here that he discovered his talent for sculpting various foods into detailed works of art.

Daniele won several medals in international food sculpting competitions— proved himself he is the best in the world. In a quest to diversify his artistic portfolio, he searched for various mediums to unleash his skills on, and that's how he discovered the simple bar of soap. His soap masterpieces are better than his food carvings.

Reptile breeder creates emoji snake

Tbilisi: Justin Kobylka, a selective reptile breeder from Georgia, claims that he spent eight years trying to create a snake specimen with detailed smiling emoji patterns. He finally did it, and the result looks as unreal as you can imagine.

As a selective breeder, Kobylka specialises in taking relatively common reptile species and creating specimens with striking physical features which he then sells for a much higher price. But his Emoji Ball Python is stunning, a Lavender Albino Piebald Ball Python with three orange smiley emojis on its skin.

The unique pattern is caused by recessive mutations, and while these occur naturally, the chances of them occurring in the wild are "astronomical," according to Kobylka. He claims his Piebald Ball Python is the world's first to have three detailed smiley face emojis on its slithering body. Piebald Ball Pythons, commonly known as Dreamsicles, are the smallest of all African pythons, which makes them a very popular choice for snake lovers looking for a pet.

How nutritious are animal organ meats?

Organ meats rarely tickle our taste buds, yet they are highly nutritious. They contain minerals, often even more than vegetables. Liver contains all of the B Vitamins, as well as Vitamins A and D. The heart is a good source of Coenzyme Q 10. Muscle meat is the least nutritious part of the animal.

Telemedicine facility at all PHCs in 6 months: Health Minister

Bengaluru, Mar. 11 (KMS& BCT)- All Primary Health Centres (PHCs) in the State will get telemedicine facility within six months, according to Health and Family Welfare Minister K.R. Ramesh Kumar.

Ramesh Kumar

Speaking at the launch of Primary Health Centre Management Information System at Vidhana Soudha, Ramesh Kumar said that the new initiative would facilitate patients at the PHCs to avail the advice and guidance of senior and experienced doctors.

"The government will provide an ambulance for every 15 km distance in rural areas and an Intensive Care Unit (ICU) at every taluk hospital in the State," he said.

The Minister said that each ambulance vehicle would have one trained nurse apart from other technicians and equipment. "The ICUs at all taluk hospitals will have all facilities, especially for asthma patients. Instead of blaming private hospitals for collecting exorbitant fees, it is better to provide facilities for those who cannot go to private hospitals for treatment. We have to prove that government hospitals too can provide good and quality treatment for the patients," the Minister said.

Advising the doctors, nurses and other technicians to work hard to provide better and quality treatment at Government Hospitals, the Minister said that the Health Department officials have to avail funds from corporate companies under the CSR scheme to ensure medical facilities for the patients.

The Health and Family Welfare Department has signed an MoU with Samsung Research and Development Institute (SRI) that aims to enable efficient management of public healthcare facilities.

As part of the agreement, SRI handed over 1,000 Samsung Tabs. Tab IRIS is approved by UIDAI for Aadhaar and KYC verification, and would enable PHCs in the State to build their database in a digital format. The tab will help staff collect and compile data of patients besides connect to virtual clinics to ensure better treatment. All the data will be uploaded to a common server through the tab. This will help give further treatment and also refer cases.

Ramesh said that the facility should be extended to all 2,353 PHCs in the State. "I do not hesitate in saying that the government, at present, is not in a position to afford this technology. CSR initiatives are welcome," he said.

Torn answer papers distributed to II PUC students ?

Mysuru, Mar. 11- Several students who wrote the II PU examinations in city yesterday have complained that they received torn answer papers. This has made them apprehensive that they might face some problems in evaluation.

The torn answer papers were distributed at Room No. 2 at the Mathrumandali Women's PU College centre where Electronics and Computer Science exams were being conducted. Some students apparently wrote the exam in torn answer papers.

When asked about the issue, College Principal Venkata Reddy clarified that a couple of answer papers were torn and they were withdrawn and new answer papers were distributed to the students. However, some students complained that the room examiner had asked them to sign on the torn answer papers and continue writing.

Chief Exam Superintendent at Mathrumandali Women's PU College said that on Mar. 9, the first day of the examinations, the centre received over 31 torn answer papers and on Mar. 10, the centre received 80 damaged papers. "All the damaged papers were withdrawn and new answer sheets were given to the student. No student was made to write in damaged papers," she said.

Deputy Director of Pre University Education, Jayaprakash said that there were chances of answer papers getting damaged while removing them from sealed bundles. "In such cases, the exam centre authorities can withdraw damaged answer papers and supply new ones. Students need not be apprehensive in such cases," he said.

Free bus facility for II PUC students

Bengaluru, Mar. 11- The State Government has provided free KSRTC bus services to students appearing for the ongoing Second PUC examinations. Realising that several rural students are facing a lot of difficulty in reaching exam centres on time in rural belts, the Government has ordered immediate implementation of the facility.

Students travelling in buses must produce their hall tickets to avail of the facility. The free service is from their places to the exam centres.

Health Dept. permission must for private residential schools

Bengaluru, Mar. 11 (KMS& DM)- Social Welfare Minister Anjaneya has said that the Health Department permission is mandatory for setting up private residential schools in the State.

Speaking to press persons here yesterday, Anjaneya said that residential schools must install CCTV cameras in their premises and the new set of rules will come into force from the coming academic year.

The residential schools must strictly adhere to the rules and if not, their recognition will be annulled, he added.

Maintaining that the State Government has taken the recent tragic incident where three boys died after having dinner at Residential School near Huliyar in Tumakuru District, the Minister said that stringent action will be taken against the School management once the District Administration submits a report on the incident.

The Minister further said that educational loans of students from BPL families will be waived off.

Woman burnt alive by husband, in-laws

Rathnamma Ravi

Nanjangud, Mar.11 (RS&DM)- In a gory incident, a 24-year-old newly-married woman was burnt to death by her husband and in-laws at Biligere in the taluk yesterday. The deceased has been identified as Rathnamma (24).

Rathnamma of Banur village in Mysuru taluk got married to one Ravi, 29, of Biligere just three months ago. But days after her marriage, Rathnamma's husband and her in-laws started harassing for dowry. As Rathnamma could not bring more dowry, her husband Ravi and his parents Thayamma and Basavegowda set her ablaze after dousing with kerosene. Rathnamma, who sustained serious burn injuries, died even before being shifted to the hospital, it is learnt. Soon after Rathnamma's death, her husband Ravi and her parents-in-law fled the village.

Rathnamma is said to be the second wife of Ravi, after his first wife Sowmya had deserted him, unable to bear dowry harassment.

Following a complaint by Rathnamma's father Sannamadegowda, the Biligere Police, who have registered a case, are investigating. Tahsildar Dayanand, ASP Mohammad Sujitha, CPI Shivamurthy & SI Satish visited the spot.

Plan for pedestrian walkways at RUBs and ROBs

Sir,

This has reference to the news item 'New Railway Over and Under Bridges sanctioned for city' (SOM dated Feb.6). While welcoming such Road Under Bridges (RUBs) and Road Over Bridges (ROBs) that help in easy movement of vehicles at Railway crosses, authorities have to also plan for pedestrian walkways in RUBs and ROBs according to the requirements of the Indian Road Congress while planning so that the right to safe use of roads by pedestrians is not robbed.

After years of follow up action by the undersigned, MCC provided for a decent pedestrian walkway at Road Under Bridge in Medar Block near Ramanna Circle of Yadavagiri/ Bamboo Bazaar. Many such ROBs / RUBs exist in Mysuru City and not all of them have decent pedestrian walkways, example: RUB near Civil Court complex - entrance of KG Koppal leading to Kuvempu Nagar. They have to share the road with the fast moving vehicles thus putting their life in jeopardy.

Therefore, it is appealed that a survey may be conducted about the existence or otherwise of pedestrian walkways and arrange to provide the same on the lines Yadavagiri RUB.

One suggestion: If there is not much of road space for pedestrian walkways, Railway authorities may permit MCC to use their land on either side of the ROB or RUB for providing tunnel walkways for pedestrians with proper approach facility on both sides.

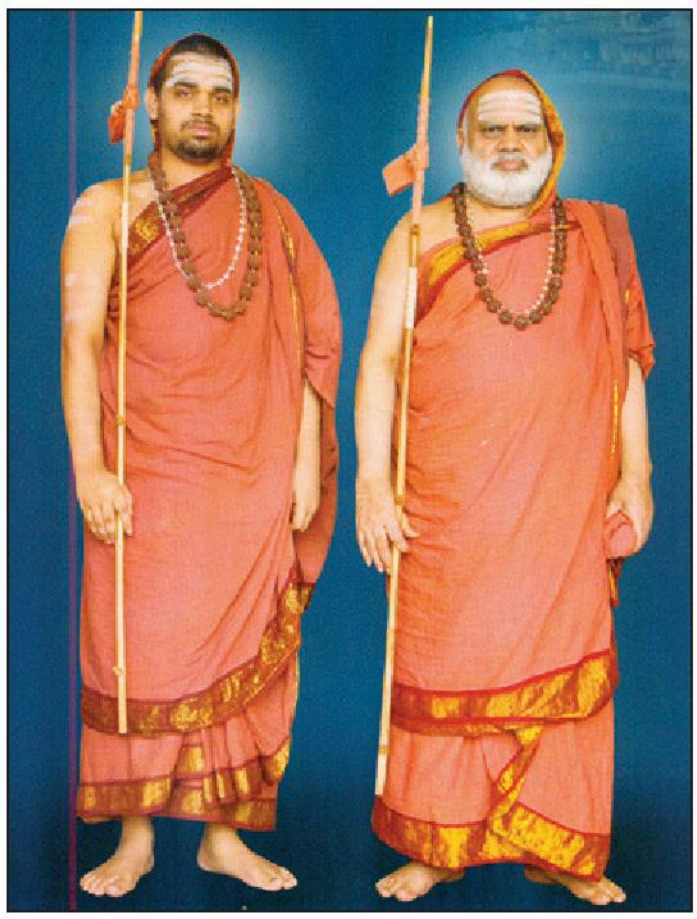
Salutations to Sringeri Jagadgurus



The cultural and religious-minded people are happy and fortunate that the Sringeri Jagadgurus are paying a visit to our city, Mysuru, after a long time, this evening. Mahasannidhanam Shankaracharya Jagadguru Sri Sri Bharathi Thirtha Mahaswamiji and Jagadguru Shankaracharya Sri Sri Vidhusekhara Bharathi Sannidhanam of Sri Sringeri Sharada Peetham will be blessing the devouts including the royalty.

Right from the time of Sri Adi Shankaracharya of Kalady, Mysuru has been a great centre of Advaita philosophy. Though it looks complicated, in simple parlance it is unity of paramatma with jeevatma. It is our good fortune that Adi Shankaracharya established four centres of Advaita philosophy in four directions of our country and it is the good fortune of Kannadigas that he chose Sringeri or Rishyasringapura as the Southern abode of Advaita. My grandfather Aradikoppam Subramany Sastry was a great scholar in Meemamsa Sastra and he was asked by the then Acharya of Sringeri to proceed to Mysuru to become a professor at the Maharaja's Sanskrit College. Thus we all came to Mysuru and perhaps had it not happened we would have been in Sringeri itself.

A unique feature of Sringeri Sharada Peetham is that it has a tradition of a long line of illustrious Jagadgurus right from the time of Adi Shankaracharya. His Holiness Jagadguru Sri Sri Bharathi Thirtha Mahaswamiji is the 36th Pontiff from 1989, the successor to Sri Sri Abhinava Vidya Thirtha Swamiji. It was our good fortune that Sri Bharathi Thirtha blessed our home long back when my grandfather and father were alive. As most of the younger generation may not be knowing about Sringeri Sharada Peetham and its Jagadgurus, I thought I should pay my pranams to the Jagadgurus through this write-up.

In one of the Agraharas in Narasaraopet in Guntur district lived a vedic family Tangirala Venkateswara Avadhani and his wife Ananthalakshamma. A boy was born to them on 11.4.1951 and he was named Sri Sitaramanjaneyalu. This young boy began conversing in fluent Sanskrit and this attracted His Holiness Abhinava Vidya Thirtha Mahaswamiji. This young boy decided that he found his Guru and never looked back. He was given the best education at Sringeri. His Holiness Abhinava Vidya Thirtha Swamiji made up his mind to make him the Peetadhipati of Sringeri Mahasamsthana and ordained him to Sainthood on 11.9.1974 and gave him the new name Sri Sri Bharathi Thirtha Swamiji. Sri Sri Abhinava Vidya Thirtha attained Mahasamadhi and Sri Sri Bharathi Thirtha Swamiji became the Peetadhipati of Sri Sringeri Sharada Peetham, as the 36th Pontiff on 19.10.1989 and he has been guiding the Sringeri Mutt from that day onwards. Thus Mahasannidhanam will be in every house on every Friday when he performs Sri Chandramouliswara Puja according to Vedic injunctions with Rudra and Chamaka and it is a sublime experience. My family makes it a point to be at home on every Friday at the appointed time.

Mahasannidhanam has taken many steps to protect and develop Sanatana Dharma as expounded by Adi Shankaracharya. Modern education, however good it may be, is without the strong foundation of ancient wisdom. Thus the Swamiji has a philosophy of education. He has revived the Gurukula system of ancient times. This includes new dimensions to Sringeri Sadvidya Pathashala, Mahaganapathi Vidwatsabha, Surasaraswathi Sabha, Shankarakripa, Sharadapeetha and establishment of Sanskrit University, Hospitals etc.

Another significant event is the historic summit of four Shankaracharyas of Sringeri, Dwaraka, Badri and Puri 1993. USAID (New York) granted equipment worth one crore of rupees. Commissioning of a golden chariot for the Mutt is another contribution. A rich devotee donated a diamond crown to Goddess Sharadamba on the 50th birthday of the Swamiji. To spread the message of Shankaracharya, Vidya Bharathi Foundation has been established at Strasburg, USA. They have also established a Sringeri Sharada Study Centre at Australia, Sydney.

Jagadguru Bharathi Thirtha Mahaswamiji is also adept in giving lectures and discourses. Giving the daily life examples in simple terms, he draws our attention to spirituality with a sense of humour. When his Holiness was in my residence years ago, he showed keen interest in books and particular reference to Sivasoma, a disciple of Bhagavatpada. The Swamiji is not only a great scholar in Sanskrit but is a great composer too and has written slokas on Shankaracharya, Chandramouliswara etc.

Now it is time to pay respects to His Holiness Sri Vidhusekhara Bharathi Swamiji. Ananthavaram in Guntur district had an illustrious family in which was born Sri Kuppa Venkatesvara Sharma to Sri Shivasubramanya Avadhani and Sita Nagalakshmi on 24.7.1991 at Tirupati. He had his early traditional education under the guidance of his grandfather. The Kuppa family had close relationship with Sringeri Sharada Peetha. In 1961 Sri Abhinava Vidya Thirtha had paid a visit to Ananthavaram when this Kuppa family performed padapuja. In 1985 when Sri Bharathi Thirtha visited Ananthavaram the Kuppam family showed great interest in dharmic activities. One illustrious family member Sri Venkatachala Somayaji was ordained to Sanyasa and was in Shankara Mutt at Vijayawada. Shivasubramanya Avadhanigalu had studied sastras at Sri Abhinava Vidya Thirtha Sastrasamvardhini Pathashala. He had visited important pilgrimage centres such as Kashi, Ayodhya, Haridwara, Mathura, Ramesvara, Madhurai and even worshipped Pashupathinatha at Nepal.

In the meantime, Sri Kuppa Venkatesvara Sharma had been participating in dharmic activities with great interest. He had the good fortune of visiting Sringeri Peetham in 2006 and 2008 and in 2009 had the opportunity of paying respects to the Jagadguru. He expressed his desire to study Sastras under the guidance of the Jagadguru and it was accepted. Every year at Sringeri is held Vakyartha (discussion) on the Ganesha festival day. Vedic scholars from all parts of the country used to take part in this discussion directly under the Jagadguru. Very young Sri Brahmachari Venkatesvara Sharma took part in it. The way in which Vakyartha was done by this brahmachari attracted the attention of all the scholars including the Jagadguru. The Jagadguru immediately made up his mind with the blessings of Goddess Sharadamba and Adi Shankaracharya to groom him as his successor to Sringeri Sharada Peetham. The disciples of Sringeri Mutt should be grateful to Sri Bharathi Thirtha Mahaswamiji for this God-ordained decision. He made a public announcement of this good news on January 4, 2015, on the day of Guruvandana. The Shisyas of Sringeri Mutt hailed this decision and expressed their gratefulness to the Mahasannidhanam.

The Shishyasveeraka rituals took place on 22nd and 23rd of January 2015. Almost all the TV channels beamed this unique programme and Shishyas and religious-minded people were glued to the TV till all the rituals were completed. My family also had the good fortune of watching this great spectacle. I still remember the way in which the illustrious brahmachari abandoned the white clothes and donned the ochre robes and the Jagadguru held him in great affection while showering blessings on him. He was given the new name Sri Sri Vidhusekhara Bharathi Swamiji. The character of the new brahmachari is summarised by the beautiful and meaningful sloka 'Vidyavinaya Sampannam Vitaragam Vivekinam|Vande Vedantatattvajnam Vidhusekhara Bharatim.'

True to the tradition of Sringeri Sharada Peetham, Jagadguru Sri Sri Bharathi Thirtha Swamiji is slowly giving the young Swamiji all responsibilities of the Mutt including blessing the disciples and most of the time giving pravachanas. Jagadguru Sri Sri Vidhusekhara Bharathi Swamiji's discourses are profound but simple in language. To make his disciples understand Advaita of Adi Shankaracharya, the Swamiji gives examples which are known to all of us. One thing I have noticed is that he will not forget to pay obeisance to Jagadguru Sri Sri Bharathi Thirtha Swamiji. We have to learn a lesson from this.

There is a famous adage that history repeats itself and Sringeri Mutt is not an exception to it. It will continue to bless the people and guide them towards dharma. I will be failing in my duty if I do not express our gratefulness to Dharmadhikari H. Ramachandra of Mysuru, Padmashree V. R. Gowrishankar, Administrator-cum-CEO and to Shankara Puranik, who have made all arrangements for the visit of Sringeri Jagadgurus to our city.

All roads will lead to Sri Abhinava Shankaralaya (Sringeri Shankara Mutt, Fort Mohalla) on 11th, 12th and 13th of this month. The prayers of the Shishyas of Sringeri Mutt is to request the Jagadgurus to bless them by visiting Mysuru as often as possible. The disciples in Mysuru will have the good fortune of witnessing Chandramouliswara Puja being performed by His Holiness directly and not through the medium of TV. Our Salutations to the Jagadgurus of Sringeri Sharada Peetham.

The Lone Movie Wolf

I am an extremely sociable person...But I also like to do certain things alone, especially watching movies. This solo movie watching, it seems, is "abnormal" behaviour as a friend observed. He is not the first. He will not be the last, for people find 'solo-activists' weird.

When I lived in Chennai, my landlord once mockingly asked me with a Tamil accent "Lone wolf ahh ni?" and then continued ranting. Later his grandson explained to me that his grandfather had heard that I was going to movies alone and also sitting in the nearby bar drinking alone so he thought I had some problem!

Yes, it seems doing certain activity alone is considered socially unacceptable. And it's usually fun activities like eating or watching movies. And for the most part this mindset exists because people are scared that if they do fun things alone others will think that they do not have friends, and if you don't have friends you are not normal. The worse is when people pass judgemental looks and even throw a pity smile at 'lone wolves.' So today if you do something alone it has to have some value, a utilitarian value, a purpose; like you can shop alone but if you sit for a movie alone you become abnormal!

Like many other 'solo-activists,' I like doing certain things alone. For me personally movies and grocery shopping are activities best enjoyed alone. The reason is the people who usually tag along with me to do these activities don't allow me to enjoy them, especially movies. The first person to ruin my movie experience was my father and now my wife. They both are what one would call the "over-reactors," the type of people who laugh with you, but laugh so loud that soon you stop laughing and hide with embarrassment.

I once watched Charlie Chaplin's 'The Great Dictator' with my father. Yes, Chaplin movies are funny but my father found it so funny that he first started with a snort-laugh. Then he started slapping his thighs. Then he started howling and clapping his hands. Then he started slapping the person next to him while tears of joy wet his face. I was the person sitting next to him. I was a fragile 14-year-old. After this I decided never to go for a movie with him again.

But a few years later I joined him for a movie called Khamoshi. This movie was a fund-raiser event of Rotary Club and I went because a girl I had a crush on was coming too. And lucky for me she happened to sit a row below me. As the movie progressed and the story about the dumb and deaf couple unfolded, my father started unfolding his handkerchief and wiping his eyes. Then he started whimpering. Then just before the interval he gave a sudden but dramatic muffled howl. Just then the interval lights came on and everyone turned to see who this emotional wreck was. In truth I was the emotional wreck because my girl-crush turned and saw my teary-eyed father and gave a cruel mocking grin only a teenage girl can. It said, "cry baby's son? No thanks." I have not gone for a movie with him since.

But just when I thought I was done with an over-active family member, I got married and my wife out-laughs a Dolby Surround Sound System in the best of multiplexes. Sometimes I fear the projectionist will stop the movie out of fear that she may laugh herself unconscious. Such people are everywhere, in every family. And so you need to learn to go for movies alone if you ever want to enjoy one.

There are also the friends who are terrible. I have a bunch of them and I don't go to movies with them either. There are the ones who wait only for the action scene and until it comes they like to discuss the ongoing cricket match.

Then there are the guessers: The people who shove their mouth near your ears to tell you what will happen next like they are Nostradamus of cinema. Then there are the prompters, the ones who can't help but think that you don't know English and find the need to explain every scene and dialogue to you in a patronising whisper. Then there are the over-enthusiastic franchise followers who have to tell you the back-story of the characters, even after you have told them you don't care when Logan became Wolverine.

The worse are the munchers, the ones who get that smelly buttered popcorn and decide to chomp nosily just when the important dialogues are being exchanged. But by far the most irritating are the fault-finders, the ones who suddenly want to become rational and logical while watching a fantasy movie. And all these people exist. They are in every group. And they need to be shut down. If you can't, then do as I do — watch movies alone on Tuesday afternoons. And I am not ashamed of it, even if others consider it abnormal.

Indeed, we human beings are social creatures and are designed to communicate and share experiences, but everyone needs 'me time.' Solo activities make you self-aware and self-confident. After all, grabbing a cocktail you love in a bar alone, watching a movie in solitude or relishing a dessert alone without your husband, wife or child digging into it and destroying its visual appeal, shows a degree of confidence. So let people think you're a loser, because it is they who are the losers losing out on the joys of undistracted fun. Let them sport that pity smile at you…you smile back and keep flying solo… it's good for your soul.

Weekend STAR Supplement

Mysuru Saturday 11th March 2017

BEAT THE HEAT

Summer is back again ! The months of March, April and May record the highest temperature forcing people to stay indoors. It is also the season during which the scare of waterborne diseases spreads everywhere. Children, who enjoy the summer, are exposed to heat and are dehydrated. It is also the season during which women indulge in protecting their skin from blazing sun. This Weekend Star Supplement gives you an insight into summer, skin care and much more.

It's SUMMER

India is expected to experience a hotter-than-normal summer this year. The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) has said that the above normal temperature (up to 1.0 degree Celsius) is likely to prevail over all meteorological sub-divisions of the country except north-west India, where the temperatures are likely to be more than 1.0 degree Celsius above normal.

India faced back-to-back droughts in 2014 and 2015, which was followed by a normal monsoon in 2016. But some areas of the country were declared drought affected in 2016, including parts of Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Karnataka. The scarcity of rainfall has severely affected the agriculture sector in these three States. The problems related to drinking water is also likely to increase in areas depending on River Cauvery water as the catchment area has failed to get enough rain over the past one year.

Fruit prices are set to head north

Call it an annual increase timed before the peak summer or the fluctuating prices of raw materials, fruit juices, milk shakes, tender coconut, watermelon and even the common soda and butter milk prices are all set to go up in the coming days. Along with the temperatures that are hitting the north, fruit prices in the city have gone up marginally and if fruit traders are to be believed, the prices of juicy fruits will go up by 15 to 30 percent. Fruits like watermelon, orange, sweet lime, muskmelon, sapota, grapes and pineapple will be in demand till the monsoon sets in, which is the second week of June.

As an indication to the price rise, tender coconut which was sold between Rs. 10 and 20 a nut, is now being sold for Rs. 25. Earlier, the smaller and leaner varieties were sold for Rs. 10 and 15 while the medium ones were sold for Rs. 20. But now, the prices of all the varieties are Rs. 25. Some enterprising sellers near malls and residential pockets (where mostly foreigners live) are even selling one tender coconut for Rs. 30.

These tender coconuts arrive in city from places like Mandya, Malavalli, Maddur, K.R. Pet, Tumakuru, Nanjangud, T. Narasipur, and Bannur. According to vendors, they buy tender coconuts for Rs. 15 to Rs. 18 a piece and sell them for Rs. 25. "We will have to keep our profit margin after paying for the nut and for the transport charges. Most of the time, we get a small portion of useless nuts in the bunch and we have to make up for the loss," said Ramanna, a tender coconut dealer.

"Usually, sales pick up in March every year. This time, we have started brisk business from February. I manage to sell one load of tender coconut in one week and I hope that I will be able to sell more loads in a couple of days," he added.

Along with the prices of tender coconuts, the prices of watermelons too have gone up. A fruit that was sold for Rs. 12 to Rs. 15 per kg is now sold for Rs. 20 and Rs. 30. The fruit arrives from Chamarajanagar, H.D. Kote, Chamarajanagar, Gundlupet, Hassan, Mysuru Taluk and Periyapatna. A slice of watermelon that was sold for Rs. 10 is now being sold for Rs. 15. "This year, there has been a steady demand for watermelons since January and the peak season will be in April and May," said Siddaiah, a watermelon merchant.

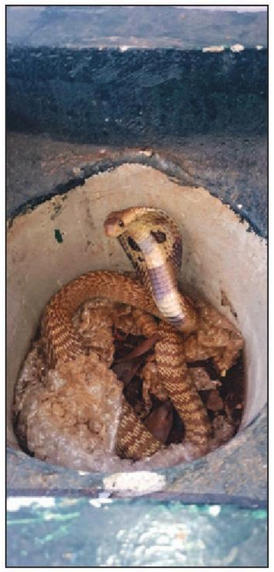
Fruit merchants say that prices would go up further as arrivals of stocks are coming down and demand is expected to increase in the next 15 days. "As the temperatures soars, demand for fruits is increasing by the day," traders say. We get fruits from other States including Delhi, Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, and Tamil Nadu. But the arrivals have come down due to increased demand in the local markets there," they add.

Demand for earthen pots goes up

As the summer sets in, we find people from Rajasthan set up small tents on the roadside at the main junctions in city, selling earthen pots fixed with taps. These pots made either by clay or mud are used by majority of people to stock water in order to quench their thirst. Known as the Poor Man's Refrigerator, these pots keeps the water cool during scorching summer. Currently, these pots are being sold near Hinkal Junction, Hunsur Road Junction and next to Kalamandira on Vinoba Road. The pots, which are brought from Rajasthan and Gujarat in trucks, are available in two varieties and each of them cost Rs. 350 and Rs. 450.

There are several advantages of drinking water stored in clay pots. Many believe that storing water in a pot is the best way as it not only keep the water cool but also provides healing elements from the earth. It is also believed that clay water pots are the alkaline nature of clay which reacts with the acidity of water and provides perfect pH (power of Hydrogen) balance and also helps to heal acidity. Drinking the right amount of water everyday can help boost metabolism.

Summer is here... So are snakes



Summer and snakes often make a scary combo. A cooler spring and abundance of food means snake numbers will be up in summer, heightening the chance of you or your pets encountering one.

Though cold-blooded, snakes need sunlight for heat and energy. Higher temperatures push them to find comfort in cooler spots. And when its body temperatures go below 20 degrees Celsius, they go in search of heat.

It is only occasionally that snakes and humans come into conflict - generally because the snake cannot make a quick exit. Never try to catch or kill a snake. Snakes are not normally aggressive. However, they will defend themselves if threatened and this is when most snake-bites occur.

So how do you lessen the odds of being bitten?

- Snakes are more defensive and they know where to find food, water and shelter in their territory and learn the daily movements of the resident humans.
- It is possible to discourage snakes by keeping your lawn neat and disposing excessive leaf litter and other garden waste. Do not leave building materials, woodpiles or compost near the house.
- Snake-proof your aviaries, pet enclosures and chicken pens with wire mesh. Check that windows and doors have secure insect screens and weather strips to close gaps at ground level.
- Different species of snakes have a different time period of the day that they choose to venture out. According to experts, most venomous snakes come out during the night.
- Finding yourself with a snake in the same room is a scary experience. People are paralysed with fear and at times even react in an unexpected manner. So, don't panic if you see a snake.
- Do not disturb a snake. A snake leaves a trial while entering premises. It will follow that trial to leave the place. So once we create a distance, it helps the snake get away.
- Call a professional snake catcher. Let professionals handle snakes and don't find ways to kill it.
- Be careful when you visit trekking spots, parks or bushy areas. And if bitten, do not cut or disturb the wound. Do not run, do not drink or eat anything till treated.

10 tips to protect your skin in summer

Skin requirements during summer are different from those in winter. For skin, hot weather conditions can be really challenging. Hot weather can lead to skin problems like heat rash. Sun damage can lead to premature ageing, dry skin, dark spots or pigmentation, wrinkles and even skin cancer over time.

Following are some tips to be kept in mind for skin during summer

Hydrate yourself: During summer, your body tends to lose a lot of moisture. So it is important to hydrate your body with water from time to time. 10 to 12 glasses of plain, filtered water every day help maintain critical moisture balance of the body and skin. Eating plenty of fruits will keep your skin and digestive system healthy.

Using a toner: A skin toner will keep the pores closed and keep the skin cool. You can try rose water as its natural cooling properties are excellent for summer.

Sleep well: Lack of sleep can lead to increased levels of stress hormones, which may slow the production of collagen in the skin. When our skin stops producing collagen, it begins to lose elasticity and starts looking tired and worn.

Stay out of sun during hottest hours: The hottest hours of the day are between 10 am and 3 pm. You should avoid staying out for long in these hours as your skin will get more exposed to radiations.

Apply sunscreen: Sunscreen is the best way by which your skin is protected. Choose a sunscreen which has a combination of sunscreen and moisturiser. You need to nourish your skin with vitamins and anti-oxidants for long term benefits. Apply sunscreen 30 minutes before stepping out.

Use face wash: Clean your face at least twice a day. Keep a routine to wash your face once in morning and evening. Choose a cleanser which is gentle for your skin type. Look for a cleanser with mild AH or BH acids or papaya-based products. The papain enzyme in papaya helps to remove dead skin cells and also helps in new skin growth.

Exfoliate your skin: You should exfoliate your skin two to three times a week as it will help in removing unwanted dead skin which may be clogging your pores and also improving blood circulation to the face. After you exfoliate, follow with a hydrating body cream to seal in moisture, and always shield freshly exfoliated skin with an SPF (Sun Protection Factor).

Protecting your skin: Protect your facial skin by wearing a hat, wear sunglasses to protect your eyes as the sensitive skin around the eyes is prone for fast ageing. Use a lip balm to keep your lips soft. Make-up becomes a mess during summer because of the rise in temperature. Use light make-up which is water proof. When it is too hot try and keep your natural glow of your skin.

Avoid aerated drinks: Aerated drinks contain lots of sugar which is not good for your face, instead, drink water, fresh lime, fresh fruit juices or coconut water. You should also minimise the intake of alcohol and caffeine as they reduce the water content from the body system.

Balanced diet: Having a proper balanced diet will help maintain the body functioning. Working out for 45 minutes a day will keep you fit and healthy.

Plans afoot to ensure drinking water atop Chamundi Hill

Drinking water facility at Nirmala Saulabhya closed for want of water

Gallons of precious water being wasted by people who bathe at the place that is meant to collect drinking water atop Chamundi Hill. Picture right shows the drinking water facility near Nirmala Saulabhya locked due to water scarcity.

Mysuru, Mar. 11 (MTY&BCT)- At a time when water is a precious commodity, thanks to the soaring temperatures, gallons of water is being wasted daily atop Chamundi Hill. Some of the devotees are using drinking water to take bath before entering the temple premises.

Following reports in a section of media that there is no drinking water facility atop the Hill, Star of Mysore did a reality check yesterday only to find this sheer wastage. Surprisingly, there was no one to prevent water being wasted.

On an average more than 50 lakh people visit the Chamundi Hill every year and there are a couple of drinking water projects (both private and public) atop the Hill. Among the government-owned are the facility provided under MP grants and the facility near the Nirmala Saulabhya constructed and maintained by Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) under its Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiative.

Though water is available in the facility built under MP grants, the drinking water facility near Nirmala Saulabhya has been locked. When asked about this, CII Mysuru Head V. Mouli told Star of Mysore that the facility has been shut for want of water. "For the toilet unit, we get water through tankers and we ensure that the water is recycled and used. The District Administration has assured us that drinking water needs will be fulfilled through the new project that will be implemented by June this year," he said.

On its part, the District Administration has asked for more funds from the government to fulfil drinking water requirements at Chamundi Hill. In a letter addressed to S.P. Shadaksharaswamy, Commissioner, Department of Religious Endowment, Bengaluru, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep has asked administrative approval to take up drinking water projects.

A new drinking water facility that was inaugurated atop the Chamundi Hill yesterday.

The letter, dated 4.3.2017, stated that the 40-year-old pipeline and water storage capacity must be upgraded to cater to the needs of the growing number of devotees. As of now, approximately 25 lakh litres of water is being used every month at the temple, Dasoha Bhavan, drinking water and toilet facilities. This is not enough, the letter stated.

At a progress review meeting of Chamundi Hill development held on Feb. 9, 2017, the Rs. 6.95 crore grant for Chamundi Hill drinking water requirements that was estimated by Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board was discussed and the participating officers felt that there was an urgent need to upgrade the existing drinking water facilities, the letter stated.

For the upgradation, Rs. 2.78 crore (40 percent) can be utilised from Chamundi Temple Fund as 40 percent of total water is used at the temple area and Rs. 4.17 crore (60 percent) can be obtained from Mysuru Zilla Panchayat as it uses 60 percent of the water, the DC has stated in the letter and has sought government approval for the release of Rs. 2.78 crore from Chamundi Temple Fund.

Speaking to this newspaper, K.N. Prasad, Chief Executive Officer, Chamundi Temple said that steps will be taken to ensure regular supply of water to the drinking water kiosks that have been donated by philanthropists and those that have been established by the government.

Tipu armoury moved to new location

The translocation of Tipu Sultan's armoury at Srirangapatna to pave way for the double-tracking work of the Mysuru-Bengaluru Railway line was completed yesterday at 4.45 pm. This is a spectacular engineering effort and is the first such in India. The shifting of the 228-year-old and 1,050-tonne Tipu armoury began on Mar. 3. The armoury was turned in "L-shape" yesterday morning and was shifted in the evening. The final destination of the armoury is 130 metres from the Railway track. Works including strengthening of the base will be taken up next.

BJP's 'Swabhimaani Samavesha' begins

Results of 5 States is an indicator of Karnataka becoming a Congress-free State: Sreenivasa Prasad

BJP leaders Aravind Limbavali, V. Sreenivasa Prasad and S.A. Ramdas seen waving the party flag during the 'Swabhimaani Sammilana Samavesha' in city this morning as other leaders look on.

Mysuru, Mar.11 (MTY&DM)- Maintaining that the Assembly results of five States is an indicator of Karnataka too becoming a Congress-free State in the next Assembly polls, former Minister and BJP leader V. Sreenivasa Prasad today said that Chief Minister Siddharamaiah himself was working in that direction.

Speaking to press persons ahead of taking part in the 'Swabhimaani Sammilana Samavesha' jointly organised by V. Sreenivasa Prasad Fans Association and Mysuru City and District BJP at Jayamma Govinde Gowda Kalyana Mantap in Kuvempunagar here this morning, Prasad, who is the BJP candidate for Nanjangud Assembly seat, asserted that he would take 'political sanyas' if he was defeated in the April 9 by-poll.

Stating that Nanjangud by-poll was actually a contest between him and Siddharamaiah, Prasad challenged the CM if he (CM) too would take 'sanyas' if the Congress candidate was defeated in the bypoll. Prasad further said that scores of his followers would join the BJP at the Samavesha.

Earlier, elated over the huge victory of BJP in UP, jubilant party workers celebrated the victory near the venue by bursting crackers and distributing sweets to the people.

Former Ministers S.A. Ramdas, C.H. Vijayashankar and M. Shivanna, City BJP President Dr. B.H. Manjunath, former Minister and MLA Aravind Limbavali, BJP leaders Kautilya Raghu, B.P. Manjunath, H.V. Rajeev, K.R. Mohan Kumar, L. Nagendra, Mallappa Gowda, Thontadarya, C. Basavegowda, Jogi Manju, Noor Fathima, Chikkamma Basavaraj, Deputy Mayor Rathna Lakshman, Corporators Snake Shyam and Nandeesh Preetham and a host of other BJP leaders were present.

BJP set to sweep UP

'Modi wave' ensured victory: As the Samajwadi Party, Congress and Bahujan Samaj Party licked their wounds, BJP leaders credited 'Modi wave' for the party's strong showing in the high stakes Uttar Pradesh elections. On the next Chief Minister in the State, they said that the decision will be taken by the BJP Parliamentary Board and the Legislature party.

BJP general secretary O.P. Mathur said the state has become "Modi-fied" and so has the country. "It is a tectonic shift in Indian politics. UP is a laboratory of India. Demonetisation has worked and we are proud of Modi's leadership. It is a bigger victory than the 2014 win in the Lok Sabha election," Union Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad said.

BJP heading for Uttarakhand win

Early trends from Uttarakhand show the BJP is heading for a clean sweep as the party is leading in 52 seats while the Congress is ahead in 11 seats. Independent candidates are leading four seats. Chief Minister Harish Rawat lost from both his seats - Haridwar Rural and Kichha. He lost for BJP candidate Yatishwaranand in Haridwar Rural by 12,400 votes.

Hung assembly in Goa

Goa appeared headed for a hung assembly with the Congress winning two and the BJP three seats and leading in six and three other seats respectively. The ruling Bharatiya Janata Party suffered a major blow when Chief Minister Laxmikant Parsekar was defeated by Dayanand Sopte of the Congress at Mandrem by nearly 5,000 votes.

And at Poriem, former Chief Minister and Congress candidate Pratapsingh Rane defeated his BJP rival Vishwajit K. Rane. The Congress, which was determined to oust the BJP after losing narrowly to it in the 2012 election, also led in six other constituencies.

Congress leads in Punjab

The Congress won its first two seats in Punjab and led on 73 others, making a strong revival in the border State after being out of power for a decade. The AAP, set to be the main opposition, won one seat.

The Congress surged towards a clear majority as its candidates led in 73 other seats in the 117-member assembly. Proving wrong exit polls which projected a close outcome, the Congress remained way ahead of the ruling Shiromani Akali Dal-BJP combine and the new entrant Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) right from the time vote count began.

Irom Sharmila defeated

Okram Ibobi Singh has swept Thoubal in Manipur, showing that irrespective of his Congress' performance in the State, he has retained loyalty in a constituency that has consistently voted for him. Meanwhile, Irom Sharmila's dismal performance in the constituency indicates that the internationally-renowned human rights activist does not, yet, have the makings of a political leader.

No question of Rahul stepping down, says Digvijay Singh

Congress veteran Digvijay Singh said there was no question of party Vice-President Rahul Gandhi stepping down, in the wake of the poor showing in the Uttar Pradesh Assembly polls. "There is no question of Rahul Gandhi stepping down," said Singh in reply to media queries about change in the Congress top leadership.

"The Nehru-Gandhi family is the greatest binding factor for the Congress and the leadership has to come to Rahul," he said. With the BJP surging towards a decisive victory both in Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand, Singh admitted that the Congress party needed to build regional leaders.

The drain in Subhash Nagar 3rd Main is clogged with weeds and plastic waste dumped into it resulting in foul smell emanating from the drain and increase in mosquitoes. Authorities concerned are urged to get the drain cleared for sewage water to flow freely without getting stagnant.

This is the situation of DD Urs Road since 4 months

With Mysuru being the 'Cleanest city' for two consecutive times and this road being one of the major roads located in the centre of the city, it is sending a wrong message to others on how the civic body works. Authorities concerned are urged to take up the issue at the earliest.

Suchendra, CEO (Residential) Om Ahuja and others look on. Picture right shows Brigade Group executives explaining about the offers to the visitors at the Mane Habba (Home Festival).

Mysuru, Mar. 11 (VNS)- 'Mysuru Mane Habba,' the two-day home festival organised by Brigade Group, was inaugurated by JSS Mahavidyapeetha Executive Secretary Dr. C.G. Betsurmath at Hotel Grand Mercure in city this morning.

The festival showcases various residential projects of Brigade Group being taken up in Mysuru, Bengaluru, Chikkamagaluru, Mangaluru, Hyderabad and Chennai. The organisers have also announced attractive offers such as zero percent interest rate for one year on homes starting at Rs. 64 lakh, free furnishing vouchers worth Rs. 1 lakh to Rs. 10 lakh and price protection to guarantee peace of mind in case of price drop.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Brigade Group CEO (Residential) Om Ahuja said that Mysuru Mane Habba was an annual event which showcased residential projects taken up by the company at various parts of the State and the country.

Stating that Brigade Group had already taken up nine projects in city, Om said that two more projects were in the pipeline.

He expressed concern over the increase in the cost of construction owing to drastic increase in the prices of raw materials like iron and cement. "Events like this help customers to buy their dream home with additional offers. We still do not know under what bracket Real Estate Industry would be added in GST. Once it is done, the prices of the houses will surely go up. The delay in buying houses will only make the customers pay more for the same in the days to come," he added.

Brigade Group, Mysuru Branch, Head B.R. Suchendra was also present.

The home festival will be open to public from 10 am to 8 pm today and tomorrow.

Laughter as a therapy

By Dr. K.B. Chinnappa
Retired Professor of Physical Education, Bangalore University

Among the entire animal-kingdom, it is only the human-beings who have the ability to laugh.

Laughter comes from the heart but shows on the face as smile. Smile has dual role to play in the society. It acts as passport to friendship (smile wins smiles) and acts as a therapy (sound mind in a sound body).

There are various types of laughter

Smile forms the features into a friendly and amused expression with the corners of the mouth turned up. As many as seventeen small facial muscles contract and squeeze the face into smile, increasing the blood flow, to turn the face to a smile, with the cheeks turning rosy to give the face a happy glow.

Sense of humour is an invaluable possession. It is the secret of longevity, cure for tension and remedy for stress. It is a form of non-verbal communication, breaks down the barriers between people increasing the feeling of oneness, thus augmenting glandular secretion bringing blush to the skin and sparkle to the eyes.

Chuckle laugh is a quiet and inward laugh. It has the effect on weight reduction. Chucklers are usually kind but introspective.

Giggle laugh is a nervous laugh, a merry heart doeth good-like medicine. Gigglers burn a few calories. It is thought that gigglers are flirtatious.

Tickle-pink laugh is most primal form of laughter touching the most sensitive areas under the ribs, under the arms, below the neck. The touch gives favourable itching or twitching sensation and generates laughter. The Simian version of tickle laughter is 'pant-pant' belly laugh, hearty laugh, vigorous laugh or mouth off laugh, guffaw. It is a loud and unrestricted laugh. It involves all the major muscle-groups for minutes at a time.

It takes ten minutes on treadmill or rowing machine to elevate the heart-rate to the same level, provided by a good belly laugh.

If the laugh is vigorous enough for our tear-ducts to activate sometimes, our glee can have a cumulative effect till we are literally crying. Joy-tears whether happy or sad may reduce the symptoms of stress.

Mouth opens to let out those Ha.... Ha.... Ha.... rhythmic blasts of vocalised air. Saliva of patients after laughing episodes found that saliva have higher levels of disease-fighting agents called immunoglobulins and also higher blood vessels of killer T-Cells are found, suggesting that laughter raises our immune functions.

Friend: I heard that your son is an author. Does he write for money?
Friend 2: Yes! In every letter that he writes to me.

A hearty guffaw is quite a workout for the system requiring as much effort and volume as yelling, because the lungs are exchanging much more air than the normal thus enriching the blood with more and more oxygen.

Psychiatrist Dr. William Fry, in his book 'Humour and Aging' stated that, it is estimated that the impact on the heart of a 20 secs of hearty laughter is comparable to three minutes of rowing, 20 minutes of rope skipping, which is supposed to be the best aerobic exercise for reconditioning the entire body and promotes longevity.

Hearty laugh enjoys most of the benefits attributed to physical exercises. According to Dr. Robert, a hearty laugh raises the pulse rate and amplifies respiration, thus leading to increased oxygen intake in all cells. We inhale larger quantities of oxygen which circulates more freely through blood to every part of the body.

Laughter could be a very important exercise for the elderly and sick people who cannot go out and walk three-kilometre.

Psychologist Sigmund Freud in his book "Wit and Its Relationship to Unconscious Mind" observed that humour and laughter helped individuals defend against subconscious fear and worries, anger and other disturbing emotions which are the cause for all types of psycho-somatic disorders.

Several psychologists are now using humour and laughter as a weapon to combat insomnia, neurosis, nervous breakdown, etc.

It is significant that our own yoga system of exercise too lays emphasis on a cheerful countenance and laughter and the effect was same as the athletic exercises.

Rehabilitation hospitals in New York have introduced laughter rooms, where the patients along with the members of the family and staff can relax with a joke book, numerous anecdotes or a comedy movie. The recovery rate being phenomenal.

Women laugh almost twice as much listening to men, as men do listening to women.

'Laugh and grow fat' is a usual saying. That may not mean that more the laughter more the fat, to make the body 'Apple-shaped' or a round body. Then the universal truth, 'sound mind in a sound body' has to be re-coined as 'sound sleep in a round body.' Of course, the sound for others and sleep for self.

Psychotherapists advice 'do not take life seriously, laugh for 15 minutes daily and have very few medical bills.'

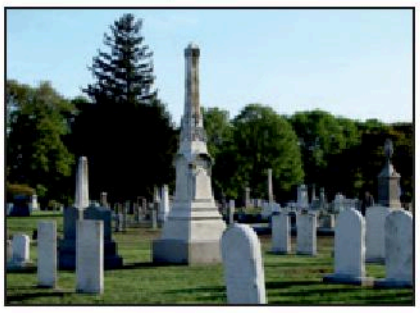
WORD OF THE DAY

Sepulchral



Pronunciation: suh-puhl-kruh l
Meaning: Sepulchral refers to anything of or pertaining to burial.
Origin: Derived from the Latin word sepulcralis meaning "to bury in the earth," the term owes its root to the word sepulcher, a tomb or crypt for the dead. Many things can be sepulchral: the deep and hollow tone of a bell, a cold draft of wind that stands your hair on end, even the vacant eyes of the dead.

THE ODD WORD

Cygnet

A young swan

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Born again

Meaning: Christians who affirm their renewed and strengthened commitment to their religion are called 'born again'. To be born again is to be 'born of the spirit'; the first birth being the physical birth of the flesh.

Origin: From the Bible, John 3.3 (King James Version):
Jesus answered and said ... Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.
The term began to be used in the 1960s to give a specific name to those who renewed their faith. The earliest printed reference to 'born again' can be found in the Reno Evening Gazette: October 1914:
"It [Christian Science] gives man the opportunity of being born again."
The first that specifically mentions 'born again Christians' is the Decatur Evening Herald (Illinois), December 1928: "I knew I had the new desires that a born-again Christian acquires." By the 1980s the term was well established in the language for it to begin appearing in modified forms in jokes (always a good measure of linguistic acceptance).
